Target Customer Persona

Women aged 22–35 years
Living in urban / Tier 1 & Tier 2 cities
Working professionals or students with disposable income

They are highly influenced by Instagram content, beauty trends, and peer recommendations, and often seek solutions for concerns like acne, pigmentation, or hair fall. These customers are not just looking for skincare products but for reliable, personalized solutions, especially during high-intent moments such as before an event, after noticing a sudden skin or hair issue, or when exposed to relevant social media content. They value convenience, quick results, and expert guidance, which makes them more likely to engage with a personalized quiz or consultation and share their contact details in exchange for tailored recommendations and offers.

Lead Magnet Format: Interactive Quiz

The quiz is designed to help users understand their unique skin story through a set of five questions focused on lifestyle, skin behavior in different situations, and common skin concerns. Based on their responses, users receive a personalized skin profile along with a brief summary of their skin type and a recommended treatment plan, making the experience both insightful and actionable.

You are experienced developer working in beauty and skincare space.
Create a short interactive skincare quiz for a beauty and skincare brand named BeYou Studio. I will be a web app. Include 5 questions and personalized results based on answers. Keep it engaging and simple.

The intent is to have it as a lead magnet. We want to engage customers. You have to track metric as well for engagement. The web app should be modern and interactive with theme associated with beauty.

Our target customers are urban working women aged 22-35, typically living in Tier 1 or Tier 2 cities, with moderate disposable income and an active interest in self-care and grooming. They are highly influenced by Instagram content, beauty trends, and peer recommendations, and often seek solutions for concerns like acne, pigmentation, or hair fall. These customers are not just looking for salon services but for reliable, personalized solutions, especially during high-intent moments such as before an event, after noticing a sudden skin or hair issue, or when exposed to relevant social media content. They value convenience, quick results, and expert guidance, which makes them more likely to engage with a personalized quiz or consultation and share their contact details in exchange for tailored recommendations and offers.

The lead magnet funnel should be There will be a prompt stating "Do you want to know your skin story", which will make the customer curious. They will click yes and then funnel into the quiz. At the end of capturing lead. there should be a personalised skin report along with details of our plans of how we can help them.

Do not use emojis. It looks unprofessional. Add image space for me to add images wherever possible. For eg in options. Please add analysis of the metrics we are capturing through graphs and visualisations. The book on whatsapp button should redirect to an empty page stating working on it.

The theme should be purple based and everything should be center aligned. The quiz should not cover the entire page. Add texture and life to it.There should be flowery background animations in the background.

Make this mobile friendly as well as add relevant vectors in images (if it is possible).

Personalised Skin Profiles

a) What would you A/B test first and why?

I would A/B test the core hook (headline) of the quiz, specifically comparing "Know Your Skin Story" vs "Your Skin is Trying to Tell You Something." This is the first message users see on Instagram and the landing page, and it directly determines whether they feel curious enough to click and start the quiz. Since our lead magnet relies heavily on emotional engagement and curiosity, even small changes in the hook can significantly impact the number of users entering the funnel, making it the most critical element to optimize first.

b) How would you measure whether this lead magnet is working — what's the one metric?

The key metric would be the conversion rate, i.e., the percentage of users who start the quiz and successfully submit their contact details. This directly reflects how effective the lead magnet is at turning interest into qualified leads.

c) What's one thing you'd change if you had to build this for a chain of 50 salons instead of one?

I would introduce location-based personalization, where users receive recommendations, offers and follow-ups tailored to their nearest store. This ensures relevance at scale and improves both user experience and conversion across multiple locations.

Thank you
